Warm greetings from the Commonwealth of Learning! What is most impressive about ICDE? Let me share my top three likes: First, I am amazed at how ICDE achieves international visibility with such a small complement of staff. Second, under Gard's leadership, we're seeking more members coming from the global south, making it an inclusive and diverse organisation. Third, ICDE has involved a wide range of stakeholders from around the world in developing the new strategic plan which also takes into account wider global issues such as sustainable development. In short, ICDE is what I would call an organisation of the 21st century: responsive and relevant to the needs of its members.
